A SPECIAL SALE OF LADIES' AND MISSES' SUITS

Beginning Friday, November 13th, 1908

WE HAVE just received news from our buyer in New York to the effect of a remarkable purchase of Ladies' and Misses' Suits. The long period of warm unseasonable weather checked business so violently that makers were glad of an opportunity to dispose of their stock at heavy losses. These suits are of the choicest materials and are made by expert tailors who put their best efforts to turn out the various models. Now, however, that November is here and cold weather will surely come there is not a garment in the collection of two hundred suits that the maker could not easily sell for fifty per cent more than we paid. We want every lady who has delayed buying her Fall suit to come as these values are unparalleled, they astounded us when we bought them and you will be equally astounded when you see them. Beautiful suits. Note the reductions.

Oregon Justice is Somewhat Peculiar

A Leather Strap Relied Upon to Escape Sentence of State's Prison.

On April 8 of last year, at Baker City, Ore., two men beat a woman on the public street, says Collier's, with some kind of a heavy strap. One of these men held a revolver in his hand so as to compel the woman to stand and take the beating, while the other brutally beat her. The men were convicted by a jury. They were convicted under a statute that provided that "if any person shall assault or assault and beat another with a cowhide, whip, stick, or like thing, having at the time in his possession a pistol, dirk, or other deadly weapon, with intent to intimidate and prevent such other from resisting or defending himself, such person, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than ten years."

The district attorney, in his information, charged the fact that the defendants held a gun while they beat the woman with a leather strap. The case was reversed on the ground that the information contained nothing to bring the strap within the class of instruments mentioned under "cowhide, whip, stick, or like thing." "Where the instrument used is not one of those named in the statute," says the court, "then it must be so described as to bring it within the term 'or like thing,' and it is not sufficient to refer to it as a leather strap. Therefore the information is insufficient to charge the crime defined by the statute." The remarkable thing about this decision is that a leather strap, according to almost any of the standard dictionaries, comes within the definition of a whip. Nothing was said by the supreme court about the gun. As a matter of fact, the very presence of the gun alone, without the strap, levelled at the woman, with intent to do her injury, constituted an assault in the first degree, the minimum punishment for which was the equal to that which had been imposed by the trial court.

FOREST MONEY IN SIX BANKS

Government Selects Them to Handle Money Received From Timber Sales.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—The names of six government depositories which are to handle the receipts of the United States Forest Service, after December 1, when its organization for the administration of the National Forests will be removed from Washington to six field districts in the west, have just been announced.

The designation of western banks to handle the money received from timber sales, permits for stock grazing and for special uses of various resources in the National forests is an innovation which will mean that all the receipts of the Forest Service in the future will be deposited to the credit of the treasurer of the United States and made available for circulation in the part of the country from which it is derived, within the limits of the amounts allowed by law for government deposits, instead of being forwarded to the treasury at Washington. The banks which have been named and which have all consented to serve the government are located in the district headquarters of the Forest Service at Denver, Ogden, Albuquerque, Missoula, Portland and San Francisco. They are as follows:

Western Montana National Bank, Missoula, Montana. Headquarters of first district, including northwestern Washington, northern Idaho, northern Wyoming and northwestern South Dakota.

Denver National Bank, Denver, Colorado. Headquarters of second district, including Colorado, southern Wyoming, South Dakota, northwestern Minnesota, Nebraska, western Kansas, southeastern Utah.

First National Bank, Albuquerque, New Mexico. Headquarters of third district, including Arizona, Arkansas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma.

First National Bank at Ogden, Utah, headquarters of fourth district, including Utah, southern Idaho, western Wyoming, eastern Nevada and northwestern Arizona.

First National Bank, San Francisco, California, headquarters fifth district, including California and southwestern Nevada.

First National Bank Portland, Oregon, headquarters of sixth district, including Washington, Oregon, a small part of northern California and Alaska.

The estimated receipts for the National Forests for the present fiscal year will be approximately $2,000,000 making the receipts from each of the six districts range from $275,000 to $300,000. The depositories will receive all remittances due the government for use of the National Forests after December 1, and deposit them to the credit of the treasurer of the United States. According to the plan which has been approved by the officials of the United States Treasury, the Forest Service and the officers of the various depositories, when a timber sale, stock grazing, or special use application is made, the forest supervisor will fill out a letter of transmittal in duplicate and tell the applicant to remit the amount directly to the national bank which is the depository for the district. Remittance will be in the form of a national bank draft, express or post office money order, and will be payable to the bank, since forest supervisors are not allowed to receive money. The letter of transmittal is virtually a deposit slip to accompany the remittance. The duplicate copy goes to the district fiscal agent. All remittances will be assembled and checked up at the end of each day, a single certificate of deposit made out by the bank and mailed to the Secretary of the Treasury. This simple plan which has required months for the Treasury department and officers of the Forest Service to perfect is one which will expedite business both for the users of the National forests and for the forest in the office of each district forester, and at the same time will make it possible for the government to deposit the National forest receipts in western banks, and help the circulation in that particular section of the country where it is originally spent.

WANTED TO BUY A HOUSE

Mr. Oscar Chambers and his wife are looking, round, but no where in the could a decent house be found; they discovered one small cottage but it looked so old and gray, they passed it up, although the rooms just suited every way. The agent disappointed said, "If you'll just wait a week, I'll have a place to show you, and no further you need seek." Then this same old cottage gray, he had painted bright and gay, with Aurora Paint, and Mr. Chambers took it right away. There is no economy in neglecting to paint your house. It preserves it from decay and increases its value of your property. Aurora Mixed Paint is the best paint you can buy. An honest lead and oil paint that wears longest.
